Nasreen's Secret School | The Kahani Project
"Nasreen's Secret School" is a great book with a bit of a more complex big idea. The main points are that people all around the world have been through hardships and that sometimes there are people in the world that act with poor intentions. The main idea also expresses that there are always good people in the midst of this.

Based on a true story. After her parents are taken away by the Taliban, young Nasreen stops speaking. But as she spends time in a secret school, she slowly breaks out of her shell. Full color.

Shows how important learning is in a country where only a few children are able to go to school.

"In the Koran, the first thing God said to Muhammad was 'Read.'" --Alia Muhammad Baker Alia Muhammad Baker is a librarian in Basra, Iraq. For fourteen years, her library has been a meeting place for those who love books. Until now. Now war has come, and Alia fears that the library--along with the thirty thousand books within it--will be destroyed forever. In a war-stricken country where civilians--especially women--have little power, this true story about a librarian's struggle to save her community's priceless collection of books reminds us all how, throughout the world, the love of literature and the respect for knowledge know no boundaries. Illustrated by Jeanette Winter in bright acrylic and ink. Includes an author's note. *From the New York Times, July 27, 2003
