I first heard about Sundar Singh at a youth rally at our church, this was in 1965. It took several years before I found any books by him our about him. This copy "Essential Writings" provides you with real insight to his basic message. Sundar Singh's ministry was difficult for some "Western" Christian's to fully appreciate.

Visions of the spiritual world: A Brief Description of the Spiritual Realm, Its Different States of Existence, and the Destiny of Good and Evil Men as Seen in VisionsSundar Singh was known in his lifetime as India's most famous convert to Christianity. His twenty-three years pilgrimage as a sadhu - a wandering, penniless pilgrim - had led him across more than twenty countries on four continents. He had profoundly influenced tens of thousands of people. He never accepted the religion as such but he instead emphasized the life-changing starkness of Christ's original teachings.

“It is better to burn quickly and melt many souls than to burn slowly and melt none.” -Sadhu Sundar Singh. Hours before he intended to kill himself, the young Sundar had a vision of Jesus. Immediately, the emptiness filling his heart was lifted. Despite opposition at home, he soon knew that he had to share his faith throughout India and Tibet. What better way than to put on the robes of a sadhu and take to the road with no guarantee of food but with a passionate desire to live as Christ did! Description: Since its earliest inception the Christian Church has had to address the question of what common ground exists between Christian faiths and other religions. In the world we live in today we struggle desperately for social harmony amidst growing religious fundamentalism and militancy. This issue is not merely of academic interest but one with critical existential and socio-political consequences. Is there a way of relating Christian faith and experience to other religions that ascribes genuine value to the religious experience of people of other faiths while affirming the essential truth claims of the Christian faith? This study presents a case for the revitalization of the fulfillment tradition based on a recovery and assessment of the fulfillment approaches of Indian Christian converts in the pre-independence period. It focuses on the views of Krishna Mohan Banerjea and Sadhu Sundar Singh. The fulfillment approaches of Indian converts help authenticate the plausibility of fulfillment theology, by confirming its adequacy over alternative explanations and affirming the particular truth claims of the Christian faith, whilst also ascribing genuine value to the religious traditions and experience of people of other faiths. Endorsements: ""One of the critical challenges facing the church in Asia today is that of finding the best way to articulate and live the message of Christ so that our peoples will realize that it provides the answer to their own quests. Dr Ivan Satyavrata has done us a great service by describing three seminal thinkers from the recent past who have sought to do this."" Ajith Fernando, Teaching Director, Youth for Christ, Sri Lanka ""Satyavrata offers a pathway that effectively navigates the age old tension of finding common ground between Christian faith and other religious traditions in a proposal which affirms the particular truth claims of Christianity, while recognizing the genuine worth of other historic faith traditions. Satyavrata's clarion voice offers historically tested, philosophically astute, and biblically grounded reflections to empower the global church."" Byron Klaus, President of The Assemblies of God Theological Seminary, Springfield, USA ""Rev. Dr. Ivan Satyavrata exhibits a rare quality of an astute theological thinker and a Churchman who is passionate to communicate Christ in ways that are scripturally faithful and contextually relevant. A must read for theologians and mission workers."" Rev. Dr. Richard Howell, General Secretary Evangelical Fellowship of India and Asia Evangelical Alliance ""Satyavrata's study will definitely serve Christian theologians and missiologists reflecting on the relationship of Christianity to the world religions, most especially to Hinduism. Satyavrata carefully demonstrates the fruitful transformation of Protestant European fulfillment theology (Farquhar) in pre-independent India, through the work of two Indian converts such as Banerjea and Sundar Singh. Satyavrata ends his study with a much-needed robust defense of the fulfillment approach and indicates its importance for the future of Christianity in a pluralist world. Satyavrata is balanced and judicious, clear and robust. He revives an important theological tradition that has ancient roots. This is a most important book." " Professor Gavin D"Costa, University of Bristol, UK About the Contributor(s): Ivan M. Satyavrata serves as Senior Pastor of the Assembly of God Church in Kolkata, which has close to 4,000 people and a significant social outreach, providing education and basic nutrition for several thousand children in and around the city of Kolkata. He has played an active role in Christian leadership training as President of the Centre for Global Leadership Development (formerly SABC), Bangalore, of which he now serves as Board Chairman, and has recently been invited to serve as International Deputy Director for the Lausanne Movement in South Asia. His chief interest has been in issues rela

When the truths set forth in this book were revealed to me by the Master they deeply affected my life, and some of them have been used by me in my sermons and addresses in Europe, America, Africa, Australia, and Asia. At the request of many friends I have now gathered them together in this little book, and though it is possible that there are defects in setting them forth, I am sure that those who read them with prayer and an unprejudiced mind will benefit from them as I have. Sundar Singh was born into a Sikh family. His mother took him to sit at the feet of a sadhu while also sending him to Ewing Christian High School. Upon her death when he was fourteen he took out his anger on missionaries, persecuted Christian converts, and ridiculed their faith. Sundar resolved to kill himself but had a vision of Jesus and resolved to follow Christ. He was then denounced by his father and his brother attempted to poison him.
